

with George Vienhus

IT HAS TAKEN a long time for us to find the right spot where we could remind our readers that in the fall of 1965 we visited Europe.

That is, although we try to sort of throw it in from time to time to make an impression, local situations don't always lend themselves to such reminders.

HOWEVER, as we swing into the month of June, or what is commonly referred to as the bridal month, we thought it apropos to mention that we recently heard from some friends who became acquainted with when we visited Scotland.

It so happened that a note from Mr. and Mrs. James Farquaharson of Dundee, Scotland, in the Shetland Islands. For the record, the Farquaharsons treated us royally when we were in Dundee, Scotland and we have kept up a sort of irregular correspondence since.

Anyway, we thought some of you might be interested in their report of the wedding:

"DEAR DOROTHY and George:

We were pleased to have your letter and Christmas card to know that you were both well. Rena and I are up in the small island of Unst in Shetland. We were at the wedding of the son of Rena's cousin and we decided to stay for a few weeks and make a holiday of it although it is not just the best time for this. However, we are enjoying the quiet and having a restful time.

"We enjoyed the wedding and, as this is the first time I had been at an Island wedding, it was most interesting.

"RENA'S COUSIN killed seven sheep for the wedding feast and this along with all the other good things were enjoyed after the church service. We went to the reception where a lovely tea was served and then after the usual speeches etc., there was dancing to a good orchestra. At midnight supper was served followed by more dancing and at various intervals during the night, refreshments were served.

"THE GUESTS made for home at six o'clock in the morning. As most of the folk on the Island are invited there was a large gathering there.

"A most interesting feature is the custom that during the evening the bride and bridegroom visit all the old folks and anyone who is not able to come to the wedding with cake and wine..."

THE NOTE we received, incidentally, was on the reverse side of the souvenir letter card of Shetland which was composed of six pictures reproduced in color of Shetland.

We were pleased to hear from our friends and hope to see them again. The pictures were intriguing.

BUT, seven sheep for a wedding?

We always heard

Study group envisions Rincon Park expansion

Above is a sketch of the seven-acre city-owned Rincon Park expanded into a central park for the community that would comprise almost 30 acres, including the playground area of the adjoining Campbell Elementary School.

The parks sub-committee has recommended to the 64-member Citizens Advisory Committee that $883,000 of a proposed bond issue be used for the development of the park. This would include a community center building and many other recreational facilities.

The Citizens Advisory Committee will meet Thursday night to act on the sub-committee reports and make a recommendation to the City Council.

Jaycees stage ROAD-e-o Saturday for teenagers

Local teenagers are invited to compete in the local finals of the Jaycees Safe Driving Road-e-o Saturday, June 3, to determine Campbell's safest and most skillful young drivers.

The contest will be conducted by the Campbell Jaycees and Courtesy Chevrolet at the main parking lot of West Valley College, Winchester and Campbell Ave., Campbell. Competition will begin at 9 a.m. sharp.

The high scoring boy and girl drivers will win a handsome trophy, and an expenses paid trip to Los Angeles to compete against other local winners at the State Road-e-o finals in Panorama City on June 24, 25. Second and third place winners will receive trophies, and along with other top scorers, a colorful sweater patch.

The boy and girl state champions will represent California at the National Finals to be held at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, July 30 and Aug. 3. At stake will be $14,000 in scholarships, the use of six convertibles for a year, and the opportunity to tour the U.S. as a Youth safety spokesman for the Lincoln-Mercury division of the Ford Motor Co. The National championships will bring together 102 teenagers from every state and the District of Columbia.

Teenagers who wish to compete in the local competition may obtain an entry form at Campbell High, Westmont High, Courtesy Chevrolet in San Jose, or at the Road-e-o on June 3.

At San Tomas

School issue flares

Acceding to the request made by a number of parents of youngsters in the San Tomas School, who claimed that there was friction on the faculty, the trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) District at the board meeting last Thursday agreed to investigate the situation at the school to determine whether there is any basis for the parents' concern.

By letter and in person, a number of parents had claimed that there had been "harassment" of teachers and other incidents at the school which has kept the school from operating on a harmonious basis.

What caused the flare-up among some of the parents was the report that three teachers of the faculty of 16 were to be transferred to other schools by administrative action.

Three other teachers, it was also understood, had requested transfers.

A crowd composed of teachers and parents overflowed the board room last Thursday when the issue was brought into the open through a series of letters that had been sent to the board members by irate parents.

In September of last year Dick Leyva was named "interim principal" of San Tomas School because of the illness of Jack Fischer, who had held the principalship for 13 years.

When Fischer died shortly after the fall term opened, Leyva became principal.

At the board meeting Thursday, the trustees took turns explaining that it is not unusual to transfer teachers within the district and that these transfers in no way should disrupt

Capital improvements for the city totalling more than $4 million, with $883,000 pinpointed for park development; $1.7 million for public facilities and $1.6 million for streets, are included in the reports of the various sub-committees that were submitted this week to the 64-member Citizens Advisory Committee.

But more than $1 million will probably be sliced from these sub-committee reports this Thursday night by the full citizens committee in order to keep within the confines of the recommendation of the citizens finance sub-committee.

Meeting Monday night, the finance committee submitted that a $3.2 million bond issue was practical and could be financed with a 40¢ tax over a 25-year period. The bond would be sold over six-years to complete the entire capital city improvement program in stages.

The Citizens Advisory Committee will meet this Thursday (June 1) at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the Campbell Elementary School on Cherry Lane to act on the sub-committee reports and to draft the recommendation that will be made to the City Council.

How to modify the reports through the establishment of priorities and by the slashing of a million dollars from them should make Thursday's meeting one of the most interesting in the history of the community.

The meeting, which is open to the public, was moved from the council chambers to the school to accommodate the anticipated attendance.

SIX-WEEK STUDY More than six weeks have been spent by the citizen groups in an intense study of this city's proposed capital improvement program and the recommendation of the Citizens Advisory Committee is expected to form the basis for a capital improvement bond issue that may be scheduled in the fall.

How the members of the overall committee of 64 citizens, representing every section of the community, will list the priorities and total package in dollars in the recommendation to the City Council to a great extent is limited by the report of the finance sub-committee, headed by Dale Scott, 264 Radford Ave.

FINANCE Scott, in a preliminary report, emphasized that there were two immediate goals to be considered: (1) to increase interest of private investment in Campbell and (2) to encourage programs, financed by bonds, for pay-as-you-go financing which will offer a visual image to Campbell.

Scott's committee, after meeting Monday, voted to recommend a tax rate for the proposed bond program that would increase the present rate 40¢ per $100 assessed valuation, thus raising $3.2 million in bonds amortized over a 21-year period.

According to Don Hebard, general chairman, and Mrs. Jeanette Watson, vice-chairman of the executive committee, the full committee Thursday will vote on the "priorities" after the sub-committees have made their "pitches."

RULES According to the rules that have been previously adopted, the sub-committees will have five-minutes each to sell their projects. The committee, as a whole, then will vote on the selection of the overall projects. Only a majority of the advisory committee will be needed to approve them.

However, Hebard and Mrs. Watson pointed

Proceed with caution

Periodically parents of youngsters in school become upset over the manner in which the schools are being administered or how the teachers are conducting their classes.

Almost every school district undergoes such experiences.

Sometimes there are basic faults in the system that need be corrected. Other times it is because of basic changes of a set pattern in either the instruction methods or the administration.

Unfortunately, no matter what the cause may be for the unrest, the issues involved become so tinged with emotions that they are over-emphasized and an eruption takes place which often does irreparable harm to the community, the school system, the teachers and, what is far more important, to the kids themselves.

No one can possibly remove the emotional element when such situations occur. And, for that matter, no one should want to. For human emotions have a part to play in schools, for, after all, people are involved.

But there is always a danger when parents get involved in school issues, that the basic principles are lost and everything becomes personalized. Then it is time for all concerned to keep their feet firmly planted on the ground.

A situation has developed in one of the Campbell schools which illustrates to us the importance of the need for clear thinking on all aspects of the problem, if a problem exists.

We caution the people who have expressed their concern over what they feel has become a serious problem in the school to stand back and analyze all phases.

They should remember very definitely that when a change in school administration occurs, it generally follows that there will be a change in both the teaching and administrative pattern.

We don't mean by that that basic principles of education will change but there can be modifications in the approach.

The basic American principle of fair play should also be considered. It seems to us that it is unfair to condemn a school principal who has only held the position for a few months, because his approach is different than that of a previous principal who had held the same position for 13 years.

Naturally, it also follows that teachers who have served with one principal may resent the approach of the new principal.

What we are saying is that we feel strongly that the people should use discretion and good sense before they condemn publicly.

There is too much involved. And it will be the youngsters who will suffer.

Grass root results

On Thursday, June 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the Campbell Elementary School the climax to one of the most interesting experiments ever conducted in this community on a "grass roots" level will take place.

Members of the 64-member Citizens Advisory Committee on Thursday night who have intently studied this city's proposed capital improvement during the past six weeks will hear the reports of the various sub-committees.

Following these reports the committee then will make a recommendation to the City Council as to what "package" should be submitted to the electorate for a capital improvement program in the order of priorities.

It is a difficult and complex task that the citizens have undertaken. But they delved into it with enthusiasm and vigor and with the avowed purpose of presenting a program that will benefit THEIR city and still be practical from the taxpayer's point of view.

It is a refreshing approach that has been used. A cross-section of the citizens of this community is represented on the committee and thus, it follows, that the results of their study will indicate how the citizens as a whole will feel.

No matter how many plans and programs are presented by the professionals in the field as to what is desired for the Campbell of the future, it will be the citizens at the ballot box who must decide the fate. And it will be these same citizens who must pick up the tab.

Therefore, it is logical that the citizens themselves should be involved in the study of any proposed capital improvement program.

From the very start, The Press has endorsed this citizens-involvement approach to this community's problems. We had hoped that the citizens would accept the responsibility and make an effort to determine the objectives for this community.

But we must admit that we were not prepared for the enthusiastic and intelligent effort these 64 dedicated citizens put forth.

They did not take their responsibility lightly, as you will note if you attend the general meeting Thursday at Campbell Elementary School. And you should attend, for you, too, will be vitally affected by the results.

We recognize that in the development of any capital improvement program there will be those who will attach greater importance to one particular phase than they do others.

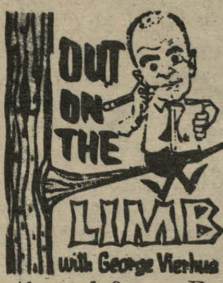

HONOR ORCHESTRA CONCERT--Approximately 50 Campbell Union School District students from grades 6 through 8 will perform Friday evening, June 2 at 7:45 in the cafeteria of Campbell School, 295 W. Cherry Lane. This group is known as the Honor Orchestra and consists of those students meeting high standards of performance on their instruments. The orchestra is under the leadership of David about the "fatted calf." But sheep?

Dunton, assisted by Miss Sydney Wood. Their concert program will include selections from Richard Rogers' "State Fair."

We never did like mutton, so we'll have to find another reason to visit the Shetland Islands.

And if we work at it, we are sure we will.

SOON, WE understand, the Odd Fellows (I. O. O. F.) will start building their new hall on Campbell Ave. at First St.

About two years ago the two-story building that had housed the lodge for more than 60 years had to be torn down because it could not meet the present-day building code restrictions.

As some of you will recall, the building was two-stories.

The hall itself was upstairs, while the lower floor was occupied by commercial enterprises.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ribble, as most of you recall, had their Campbell Stationery business on the street floor until the time the building was demolished.

But most of you probably don't know, however, that for a number of years prior to 1950 (when The Press building was constructed) The Campbell Press was located in that building.

That was brought to mind recently when we received a letter in the mail addressed to "The Campbell Press, I. O. O. F. Bldg., Campbell, Calif."

Inasmuch as The Press has occupied its present quarters since 1950, (for 17 years), we suggest that this particular firm should up-date its mailing list.

ALTHOUGH WE have been coerced (unsuccessfully, we might add, but in a sort of nice way) by our gal Sally Howe, staff mem-

School assists college-bound junior students

Aware of the ever increasing numbers of students planning to attend college, Campbell High School is holding a "college counseling meeting" for juniors and their parents at the school cafeteria tober of The Press at-large, to refrain from reporting a recent incident in which Sally was involved, we feel that in the interest of professional integrity the subject must be aired.

So let the chips fall where they may.

In other words, we will try to escape Sally's retaliation by leaving town or something.

BUT THE ONLY reason we are reporting the incident is that a number of people have asked us what in the world we were doing recently when we were seen galloping down Winchester Blvd. ahead of Sally.

Those of you who saw us trotting down the road did not see the little doggie that was prancing like crazy between Sally and us.

You see, Sally has gained an excellent and deserved reputation as a top-notch trainer of dogs on this obedience bit.

The only trouble is that one of her own dogs had refused to absorb the needed knowledge that is necessary before dog and mistress (or master) can arrive at an understanding. And when Sally wanted the animal to pose in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center area, the dog had a different idea about the whole affair and took off down the pike with Sally after him.

When we saw that Sally was fighting a losing battle with her charge, we scooted down the road in our car ahead of the chase and then got out and helped corral the doggie.

And that's when you saw us.

Any other questions? If you have, let Sally answer 'em.

We are convinced that while the "give-and-take" period Thursday when the various phases of the program are discussed and "sold", will be spirited, we feel quite certain that a meeting of the minds will result.

There may be compromises and there may be modifications of the sub-committee reports before the recommendations that will be made to the City Council can be finalized.

But this is to be expected and the way it should be.

We have confidence in the committee members and we are proud of the manner in which they have attacked the problems.

We are convinced also that the City Council recognizes the value of the committee's spadework and will accept the recommendations as a true grass roots reaction.

Campbell loses league title-Westmont hears election returns

Campbell Crier

by DAVE TURNER

As the year draws to a close most seniors have their plans for next year pretty well set, and it's time for the juniors to start thinking about their after-graduation goals. With this in mind, the Campbell High counseling staff is holding its second annual Junior Parents' Night tonight, May 31, in the Campbell cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Featured speakers will be Mrs. Marye Parker, senior counselor, and Winston Miller, junior counselor.

Although most of the information distributed during the course of the evening will concern the college bound student, valuable advice for students seeking a full-time job or the military service will also be given.

Many helpful pamphlets will be made available and a question and answer period will follow the counselors' enlightening discussions. All concerned parents should attend and students will also be welcome.

SPORTS

The ego of Campbell sports fans took a dive last week as the tennis and varsity baseball teams both lost crucial games to give them second place finishes in their respective leagues.

The netters dropped the big one to Leigh, the only team to beat them this year, to finish two games behind the Longhorns in the final league standings. The Buc's proud varsity nine whipped the Longhorns to set the stage for the big showdown with the Camden Cougars.

The good guys lost the game 3 to 1, and with it the elusive league title that has slipped through their fingers two years in a row.

TROOP 953

"Thrifty days are on the way!" Junior Troop 953, Forest Hill School, will hold a nine day Thrifty Sale June 3-11. There will be two locations for the sale: 835 Harriet Ave. and 4537 McCoy Ave. from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day including Saturdays and Sundays.

The girls, their leaders and parents have worked diligently in collecting good, worthwhile items for this sale. If you have been Spring cleaning and have good, usable things you'd care to donate to the troop, please call the leader, Mrs. W. Van Wynngaarden 378-9610. Proceeds from this event will go towards summer camp at Camp Loma in the Santa Cruz mountains for the girls.

TROOP 202

Brownie Troop 202, Forest Hill School, has already had their "fun day" and closed the record books until the fall. The troop members had a "happy holiday" at Happy Hollow, May 27, with nose-bag lunches, a ride on the friendly dragon and great fun at the park for everyone. This eventful day was paid for from the proceeds of the March Girl Scout Cookie Sale. The twelve girls attending were transported by Mrs. Joseph Akers and their leader Mrs. B. Snetsinger.

The Capri Juniors, Troop 420, just returned from a two night over-night at the Willows where all the girls had a marvelous time.

Brownie Troops 483 and 1034, Capri School and Troop 791, Hazelwood School are planning events to entertain their mothers and receive their year pins before finishing the years activities.

The Cadettes, Troop 55, Rolling Hills School are winding up final plans for their camp-out. All in all--Scouts of every level are busier than ever!

Doctor Bacci heads hospital medical staff

A Campbell obstetrician and gynecologist, O. J. Bacci, M.D., will become chief of the medical and dental staff of The Good Samaritan Hospital of Santa Clara Valley July 1.

As chief, he will head a medical and dental staff numbering 477 physicians and dental surgeons. Working with him as chief-elect will be Gilbert I. Smith, M.D., urologist, and, as secretary-treasurer, Jay V. Stanger, M.D., plastic surgeon.

Elected to the executive committee as members-at-large during the annual meeting were W. H. Otto Jr., M.D., general practitioner; C. John Samios, M.D., internist; and Gray E. B. Stahman, M.D., neurosurgeon. New to the credentials committee will be Martin Trieb, M.D., orthopedic surgeon.

O. J. Bacci, M.D. --new chief

Dr. Bacci was active in organizing the medical and dental staff of the non-profit Good Samaritan Hospital, which opened in Sept. 1965, and his wife has been active in the Auxiliary. He is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley and received his M.D. from Creighton University. He interned at Santa Clara Valley Medical Center. He is a fellow of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and is affiliated with the Santa Clara County Medical Society, San Francisco Gynecology Society, Peninsula Gynecology Society, and the Shufelt Society.

His offices are located at the Campbell Medical Center, 621 E. Campbell, Ave.

inal designs? Seeing is believing and at Coventry School, students of Mrs. Shirley Kazen and Robert Skorniak have made such an array of stuffed toys and are making many more.

The object? To present the children's wards at the County Medical Facility the results of their projects, which have encompassed much of their own free time out-of-school as well as spare moments when they've completed classroom assignments.

The top craftsmen? The boys, who have delighted to learn the various stitches which help to make a finished project. In fact, Barry Gilbert made the biggest foam-stuffed animal--a fish, and Carey Robson is finishing his sixth children's-cheer-upper.

Material for the animals has been donated by parents and one local yardage store. Ready to go are animals made by: Mike Barbieri, Oscar Barragan (3), Gordon Hahn, Mitchell Hazel, Richard Lloyd, Jim Rypstra, Darryl Rooney, Mark Buchanan, Matt Petty.

Sylvia Sinkay, Leslie Vowdrey, Suzanne Birdwell, Sandy McCown, Linda Amarillas, Diane Des Parois, Paul Fellipetti, Beverly Patterson, Frances Reda, Judy Ukat and Connie Wright.

The students hope to complete another 30 animals before the close of school and to make a presentation to the hospital personnel.

Meantime, busy hands are threading needles, tracing patterns and going snip, snip, snip.

West Valley College continues to show enrollment increase

Enrollment at West Valley College continues to go up, up, up, according to statistics just released by Donald Ziegler, dean of admissions.

In the school's first year at its present temporary Campbell site, Ziegler reported to the district's governing board at its meeting on May 18, total student enrollment for the semester, Fall, 1966, totaled 3,203 students.

By the fall of 1965, enrollment went to 5,019, and by last Fall, it had reached 6,176.

Broken down by day students and extended day (or evening) students, here are the comparisons for the first three years of enrollment at the college.

In 1964, there were 1,694 day students and 1,158 extended day students.

By 1965, that figure had jumped to 2,734 day students and 1,942 extended day students.

In 1966, 3,405 day students and 2,425 extended day students were enrolled.

In the three short years of its existence, West Valley College has also increased the number of students who have come here from out of state. In 1964, that number totaled six, but by the next year it had risen to 60, and in 1966 there were 93 out-of-state students on the Campbell campus.

The Campbell Union High School District sent most students to the college, over the years, and within that district Blackford High School led the way. In 1964, there were 123 Blackford graduates on the West Valley campus. That number jumped to 127 in 1965, and 153 in 1966.

Del Mar High School had 93 graduates at West Valley in 1964, up to 100 in 1965 and 146 in 1966. Leigh had 106 in 1964, up to 121 in 1965 and 139 in 1966. Camden had 84 in 1964, up to 148 in 1965, and slightly down to 130 in 1966, followed by Campbell with 155, 111 and 118, and Westmont which was represented by 95 in the fall of 1965 and 97 in 1966.

Buchser in the Santa Clara Unified School District had 105 attendees in 1964, the same number in 1965, and up to 116 in 1966. Santa Clara High School recorded 95 in 1964, up to 114 in 1965 and back to 109 in 1966. Wilcox was represented by 55 in 1964, 95 in 1965 and 82 in 1966.

Los Gatos High School checked in with 86 students in 1964, up to 99 in 1965 and back to 86 in 1966, while Saratoga had 56 attendees in 1964, up to 57 in 1964 and up still further to 70 in 1966.

High Schools in the county but outside the Junior College District had 61 students attending in 1964, down to 33 in 1965 and back up to 55 in 1966, while non-public high schools, primarily parochial schools, had 32 students in 1964, slightly up to 33 in 1965 and sharply increased to 53 in 1966.

There were transfer students from 56 junior colleges throughout the State, with San Jose City College leading the way, of course, with 155 in 1964, down to 87 in 1965 and down further to 74 in 1966. Foothill College, the next closest one to West Valley followed with 66 students in 1964, down to 16 in 1965 and back up to 18 in 1966.

In addition to the students attending West Valley College classes at its different locations (Campbell and Buchser High School's and Dartmouth Junior High School) permits were issued to 898 day students and 1307 extended day students to attend junior college classes outside of the district which were not provided by the district.

Pay raises bring additional Social Security protection

By GLADSTONE BOQUIST field representative
Social Security Office
A substantial pay raise can bring a lot of pleasant thoughts to mind...

A family vacation at that really nice place you couldn't afford before...

A new car this year instead of next...

Extra money for some new fishing gear, some new clothes, a new rug for the living room.

Later, other thoughts, setting aside more money for the children's college, maybe even increasing the amount of a life insurance policy.

What may not come to mind is the fact that the pay increase will automatically bring additional protection for the worker and his family--social security life insurance protection, disability insurance protection, and retirement protection.

Like most things that are automatic, we give social security very little thought until circumstances change and we need it. "Besides," you say, "social security is a retirement program and I have 25 years to go before I retire. In the meantime, there are two children to raise and put through college."

LIFE INSURANCE
Your social security coverage gives you a sizeable amount of life insurance protection as well as retirement insurance, and the value of that protection usually goes up when your wages go up. The exact dollar amount depends on the level of your earnings, your age, and the ages of your children.

If something should happen to you, your wife and children would receive monthly benefits until your youngest child reached age 18. Financial help would be available for your children if they decided to go on to college. Benefits are payable to children still in school until age 22.

The amount of the monthly benefit your family would receive is based on your average earnings over the years. Average monthly earnings of $400 would mean benefits of $306 a month for a widow and two children. Because benefits are based on earnings, a raise for you will mean an increase in the amount of life insurance protection you have for your family. Very simply, up to $6,600 a year, the present wage base under social security, any pay raise you receive will, over a period of time, raise your average monthly earnings and increase your benefits.

When you and your family are young and really need the most protection, the value of your social security survivors insurance is at its highest. As the children get older, the value of the life insurance protection decreases, since benefits are payable for a shorter period of time.

A widow still under 60 years of age cannot collect benefits, once all her children reach 18 (unless she has in her care a child who became disabled before 18). Her survivors protection will begin again when she is older. Widow's benefits are payable at age 62, or at 60 at a reduced rate.

A pay raise may never bring to mind thoughts of increased life insurance protection under social security before thoughts of a new car. Thinking about a new car or a special vacation is more fun. But that's the nice thing about social security--you don't have to think about it--the survivor protection will be there if your family ever needs it.

For further information relating to benefits under the Social Security Program, get in touch with the San Jose Social Security Office at 500 South First Street. Office hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. In addition, the office is open until 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays, for the convenience of those who cannot visit the office during regular office hours.

New Books at the CAMPBELL LIBRARY

NEW BOOKS AT THE CAMPBELL LIBRARY
THE ROAD TO H, Narcotics, Delinquency and Social Policy by Isador Chein, Donald Gerard, Robert Lee and Eva Rosenfeld.

How does addiction happen? Why? What, if anything, should be done about it? These are the questions which give rise to this penetrating and comprehensive study of adolescent drug use. Concentrating on the sixteen-to-twenty-year-old male drug-user in New York, the collaborating authors present new data on the neighborhood distribution of juvenile drug use.

DON'T STOP THE CARNIVAL, a new novel by HERMAN WOUK

Herman Wouk's new novel, perhaps the most entertaining he has written, is an ironic comedy of tropical adventures, misadventures and love affairs. The book has a cast of characters worthy to stand with Captain Queeg and so many other memorable portraits in the long Wouk gallery.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF BERTRAND RUSSELL

Among the towering intellectual and humanitarian figures of this century--Freud, Einstein, Schweitzer, Shaw--only Russell has undertaken to tell the story of his life. Brilliantly written, emotionally charged, witty, historically evocative, this book takes Bertrand Russell through his forty-second year. It is one of the great autobiographies in the English language, a startling candid personal narrative that deserves to be placed beside the CONFESSIONS of Jean-Jacques Rousseau.

Moreland School district votes tax increase

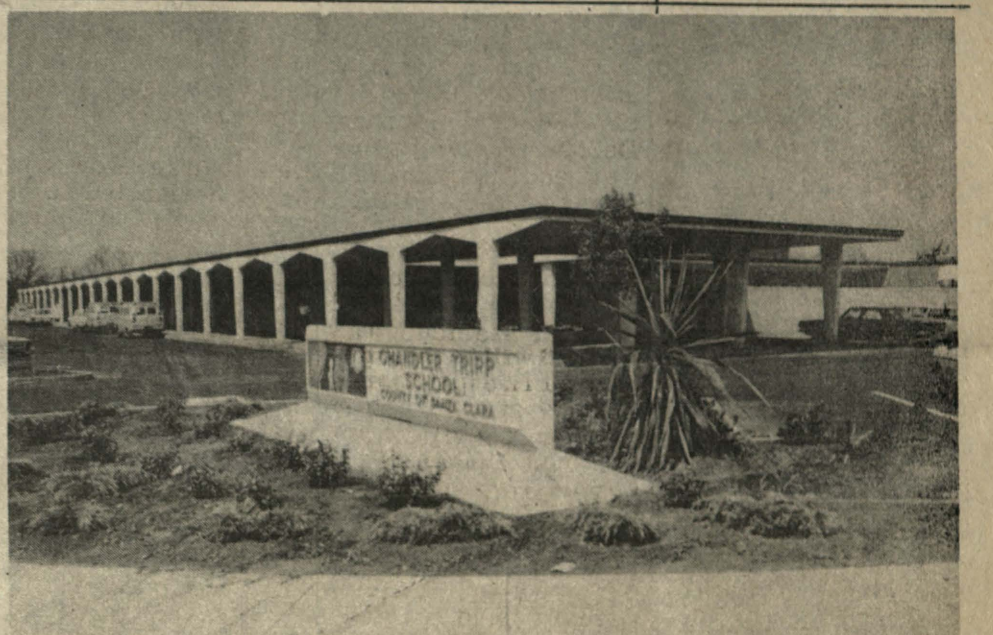

Residents of the Moreland School District voted in favor of a maximum tax rate increase of $2.64 at last Tuesday's election. The increase of 54 cents per $100 of assessed valuation will go into effect in July, 1967.

The Moreland District basic operating tax has not changed since 1956. Since that time the rate has been $2.10, well below that of any neighboring district.

The increase was needed, according to the Board of Trustees, due to the higher cost of education per pupil; an increase in demand for educational programs such as expanded curriculum in mathematics, science and foreign language; special programs for retarded, physically and educationally handicapped children, and reduction in class size.

COUNTY'S NEW CHANDLER TRIPP SCHOOL--This beautiful new county school for the physically handicapped was dedicated in public ceremonies last Wednesday.

The school is located on Thornton Way off Moorpark Ave., San Jose.

Obituaries

TIMOTHY TERRY
Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from Campbell Memorial Chapel for Timothy Dale Terry, 14-year old Camden High School youth, who died beneath the wreckage of a small sports car after the vehicle hit an embankment on Bear Creek Road in Boulder Creek.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Terry of 1173 Shamrock Drive, Campbell. Driver of the car, William Selden Knox, 27, of Boulder Creek, brother-in-law of young Terry, escaped with minor injuries. The accident occurred on a long, downhill curve on Bear Creek Road, about eight miles east of Boulder Creek.

The youth was a native of Marshfield, Missouri. Other survivors include two brothers, Tommy and Billy Terry of Campbell and two sisters, Mrs. Deanna Knox of Boulder Creek and Mrs. Vickie Lynn Niefenegger of Los Gatos. He is also survived by his grandparents, Mrs. Cordella Terry of Missouri and Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich Daniels of Missouri.

Rev. Shirley T. Sherrill of Cambrian Park Methodist Church officiated at services. Interment was at Los Gatos Memorial Park.

HOLLIS SMITH
Final services were held May 22 for Hollis B. Smith, 53, 1128 Shamrock Dr., who passed away suddenly Saturday following an apparent heart attack.

A native of Iowa, Smith was a self-employed plumber and had resided in this area for 20 years. A veteran of World War II, he was a member of Elks Lodge in Ames, Iowa. He is survived by two brothers, Louis Breyer of Washington and Harry Wehrmann of Iowa. Services were held at the West Valley Chapel, Los Gatos with the Rev. Robert Boswell of Los Gatos First Methodist Church presiding. Interment was in the Los Gatos Cemetery.

Gubser cites June 2 deadline for academies

"Failure to apply by June 2 could cost some local man a chance to be a cadet or midshipman at West Point, Annapolis, Colorado Springs or Kings Point", Congressman Charles S. Gubser (R-Calif.) said this week. Gubser reminded young men interested in attending military academies of the previously announced June 2 deadline for applications. He urged eligible candidates to write to him at 2338 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C., before June 2.

"I do not want any young man to lose out on a chance for a four-year education and a career as an officer in the Army, Navy, Air Force or Merchant Marine simply because his application to compete for appointment is received too late," the Congressman said.

The June 2 deadline is necessary because advance reservations must be made with the U.S. Civil Service Commission for the competitive examination which will be held on July 11, 1967.

Insurance Company Taxes

NEW YORK—Insurance companies in the United States paid nearly $743 million in premium taxes to 50 states in 1965. Companies which sell property and liability insurance paid about 44 per cent of this amount, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

"China watching" preoccupies most of today's students of foreign affairs. The colossal land mass of Asia which is Communist China is mysterious and, to most Americans, a serious threat to world peace. But another of the world's great masses of land, equally as mysterious, is creeping into the limelight. The dark continent of Africa is beginning to stir and may have more explosive potential than Red China.

Africa accounts for 20% of the land mass of the world. It is larger than Australia, India, the United States and Western Europe combined. It has 40% of the world's potential water power, more arable land than the Soviet Union, accounts for 65% of the world's gold production, 96% of its diamonds and 24% of its copper supply.

Ten years ago Africa was still a continent of colonial outposts. Prior to World War II only Ethiopia, Liberia and the United Arab Republic were independent nations on the African continent.

Today there are 39 independent countries and 18 dependent territories. Few Americans recognize such names as Sierra Leone, Togo, Chad, Rwanda, Botswana, Lesotho, and Burundi, now full-fledged nations in modern Africa.

It is the newness of these independent governments which gives rise to free world concern. Their top layers of educated manpower are perilously thin and they have almost no middle level semi-skilled personnel.

Only 15% of the 261 million people in Africa can read and write, and communication is difficult between more than 800 tribes whose people speak thousands of local languages and dialects. Only 40% of school-age children are in primary school and in most African nations only one out of every thousand persons has had 12 years of schooling.

When the Congo became free, it had fewer than 20 university graduates and no doctors, lawyers or public accountants. Tanzania had only 77 nationals who were college trained.

When Nyasaland became the independent state of Malawi it sought 500 university-educated citizens to fill top government posts and could find only 31.

African nations realize that their progress and success as independent nations is dependent upon improved education. As a result they are spending every possible shilling, franc, or dinar on education.

In some countries allocations for classrooms and teachers exceed one-third of the national budget. Nigeria, Ethiopia and Ghana devote 19.4%, 20% and 18% of their national budgets to classrooms and teachers' salaries. These are typical efforts.

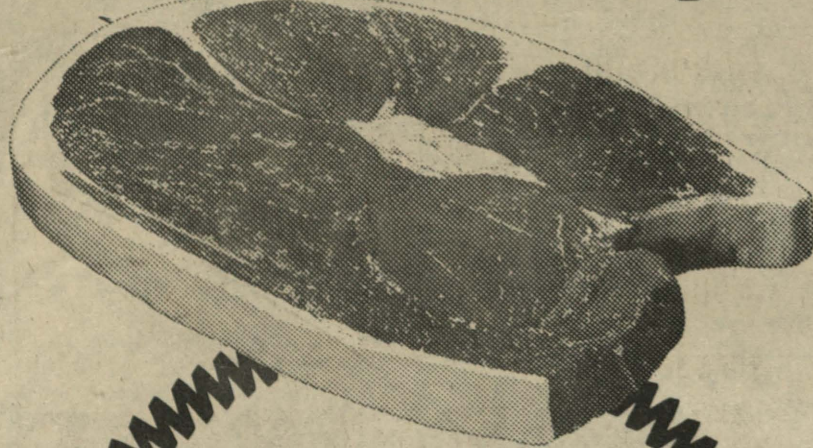

UNESCO and the United States are helping African nations to help themselves.

With Russia standing by licking her chops to pick up the pieces of shattered democracies and install Communism, the freedom of Africa could depend upon whether this educational race is won.

If education can produce enough trained manpower soon enough most African nations will have a chance to withstand Communism and embrace freedom.

The "Dark Continent" will definitely bear watching.

1 YEAR AGO

Two girls from Campbell have been awarded Regents Scholarships to the University of California. They are Terri Corn, a Westmont High School senior, and Judith Wanschura, who will graduate next week from Notre Dame High in San Jose.

When Dr. W. R. Morgan, long-time Campbell, dentist, made a final inspection of a house at 34 S. 4th St., which he owns and is soon to be demolished, he made a startling discovery. He found a headstone beside the fireplace. The morbid bit of interior decoration apparently had been left by the last tenants, a group of West Valley College youths.

The lettering on the three-foot high relic of some unknown cemetary revealed that it had marked the grave of Guido Muth Mangenberg, born Feb. 11, 1826 and died Nov. 9, 1887.

The ownership of Aero Drugs at 2075 Winchester Blvd. has changed hands, from one Campbell family to another. Richard Salice, who has operated the pharmacy since 1947 has sold his interest to Allan Blaine, scion of an old Campbell family, and former manager of the Hamilton Ave. Prescription Pharmacy.

5 YEARS AGO
Plans for the eventual abandonment of the 40-year-old Campbell Grammar School building took added impetus this week. According to the figures, which at this time are only based on estimates, the cost of remodeling the building will be so prohibitive that the Board of Trustees will seek approval to abandon the present school.

"The West Valley Junior College Plan is not dead," Robert Brydon, candidate for Supervisor 4th District said today. Brydon, who championed the West Valley J. C. proposal said people throughout the area are intensely interested in the college education of their children, and feel that without additional Junior college facilities, many high school graduates of the West Valley will not have a college opportunity.

Dr. Lydia L. Verbarg, school physician for the Campbell Elementary School District, has tendered her resignation to the

15 YEARS AGO

Campbell City Council Monday night hired a city engineer, adopted a resolution of protest of San Jose annexation, heard first reading of a garbage ordinance, granted three use permits and advised a delegation from Coral Manor concerning an ungraded traffic hazard.

A record primary vote is expected to be cast in Campbell Tuesday in the wake of strenuous campaigning on the part of many individuals and for and against various issues. In a public affairs section of Orchard City Grange last Tuesday a resolution was adopted by the grange asking the board of supervisors to pass an ordinance prohibiting any more removal of gravel from the vicinity of the Page Dam on Los Gatos Creek.

10 YEAR AGO

Campbell Elementary District's 13th school got the go ahead sign on Tuesday when Barnhart Construction Co., was awarded the contract with a low bid of $344,533. The new school named Blackford because of its location on Blackford

Ln., is expected to be completed by Jan. 1, 1958.

County employees were voted a 5 per cent increase in pay across the board this week by the supervisors with one exception. Howard W. Campen, county executive, got a hike in pay of almost $7,000. The increase in salaries followed the recommendation of Campen except in his own case. He asked for no pay increase for himself but the board on its own volition jumped his pay from $20,400 to $27,324, an increase of almost 30 per cent. Speculation was high through the county following the board's action as to why Campen was given such a big raise making him second highest paid public official in the state. President Robert Sproul of the University of California is the only one who will now exceed him in the pay bracket.

Because 18 vehicles registered to Campbell High School students were involved in accidents during last summer's vacation, police and school officials made a safety check at the school last week to make students aware of faulty equipment and to acquaint them with potential driving hazards.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

Q. - I will be 65 next month and want to apply for Medicare, but am afraid my employer will find out and fire me. Does he have to be informed?

A. - No. Social security records are confidential and we will not inform your employer without your written permission. You should come in to the Social Security Office and file immediately, in order to get full Medicare coverage.

Q. - I understood from what I have read that you can enroll for Medicare either three months before or three months after age 65. Is this correct?

A. - Yes, this seven-month span is your first enrollment period. However, to be fully protected by medical insurance as of the first day of the month you attain age 65, you must enroll no later than the month before your birthday. If you enroll later, your medical insurance will start from one to three months after the month of enrollment.

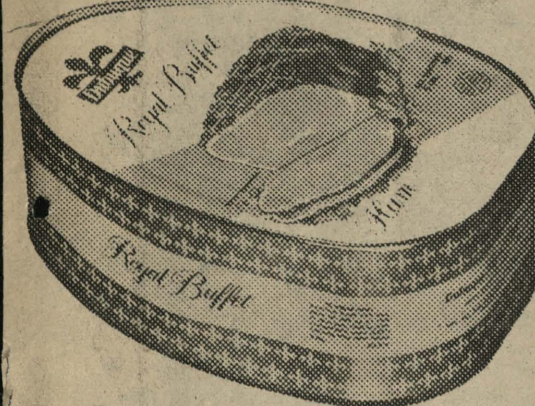

Q. - What happens to the people who don't enroll for doctor bill insurance in their first Medicare enrollment period? Do they get a second chance?

A. - Yes, they may enroll during the Medicare open enrollment period which is the last three months of the next odd-numbered year. These late enrollees will pay a higher premium for the same protection, however, and their coverage will not begin until July 1 of the year after they enroll.

Q. - I am enrolled in both the hospital and medical insurance plans under Medicare. I have used up almost all of my 100 home health visits under hospital insurance and still need more visits. What happens when I've exhausted the 100 visits? A. - You will be entitled to an additional 100 home health visits under the medical insurance plan. However, under the medical insurance plan, Medicare pays 80 percent of the reasonable charges and you pay the rest. You are also responsible for the first $50 of covered medical expenses in a calendar year, which would include doctor bills, as well as the home health visits.

Mussels can be poison, warns health officer

A warning that mussels are poisonous at this time of year and are under State quarantine has been issued by Dr. W. Elwyn Turner.

"Laboratory findings show that mussels may be highly toxic during the quarantine period from May 1 to October 31. This condition is due to the ingestion, by the mussel, of a minute organism which produces a strychnine-like poison. The organism is present in ocean waters in large numbers during this mid-year period. This poison can cause death to persons eating the toxic shellfish."

The quarantine is in effect along the entire California coastal shoreline including San Francisco Bay. Mussels may be used for bait during this ban, but if to be sold for fish bait, they must be broken open and placed in a container plainly marked in big print, "Mussels May Contain Poison - Unfit for Human Food".

Santa Clara County residents are also cautioned that clams may contain some of this poison. To safely prepare these shellfish, the dark parts should be carefully removed, as the poison when present concentrates in this area. Only the white meat should be eaten. In addition, the clams should be cleaned, washed thoroughly and cooked. As a further precaution, clams should only be taken from areas which are free from sewage contamination.

RALPH WEYMOUTH
STREETS
By Ralph Weymouth
Chairman

The streets committee is a subdivision of the Citizens Advisory Committee which was established by the City Council to make a study of the six year capital improvement program. The recommendations of the study group are to be submitted at the general meeting to be held June 1, and, after coordinating its findings with those of the other groups, will be submitted to the Council for their consideration. While realizing that the Council reserves the right to choose a different approach, the streets committee nevertheless, studied the problems with what it hopes is complete objectivity. The committee has composed of people of

The committee was composed of people of diverse occupations from widely separated areas of the community. Working with representatives of the executive board, Connie Russo, Maude Smith and Rex Jeffers, the committee has met weekly with Bill Wren and Bill Helms of the City's Engineering staff.

At the outset the committee members were primarily interested in their own immediate areas, and, secondly, in varying degrees, the development of the community as a whole. Few of the members knew one another, and even fewer were aware of the complexities involved in planning for adequate street progress with limited funds.

It is doubtful that it would have made much progress in recognizing these problems without the excellent assistance provided by Wren and his staff.

Charts and cost studies furnished by the engineering department were invaluable in understanding the many inter-related problems affecting the study of streets, traffic flow patterns, safety considerations and the esthetic values involved in this area of Campbell's future development.

After the second or third meeting, the committee members had become thoroughly involved in a more objective way, and the emphasis shifted from the neighborhood view of the streets question to the overall good of the community.

In general, the committee concurred in the streets plan presented by the city engineering staff. Consideration was given to priority based on an assumed availability of $1,500,000 for streets and traffic aids over a six year period.

Alternative priorities were discussed in the event a lesser amount was decided upon. There was much concern for equity in the expenditure of bond funds, and the committee recommendations were made with that thought uppermost at all times.

While there are many residential areas that need upgrading with respect to streets, there are also many complex problems attendant on their solution. Not the least is the number of, once, one can hope that as the city becomes a

HENRY CARY
PARKS
By HENRY CARY
Chairman

The parks and recreation sub-committee recommends that one central community recreation park be developed for the citizens of Campbell during the period of the proposed six year capital improvement program.

It is estimated that the complete park "package" can be obtained for less than $900,000.

It is the opinion of the sub-committee that the park must be a total family recreation center complete with a community center building which has ample provisions for teen-age activities.

The park complex must be developed according to a professional master plan in order to get maximum utilization of space and efficient flow of traffic to and through the park.

The site selected by the sub-committee for the community recreation park includes the presently owned Rincon Park site. It is recommended that the city acquire adjacent county and private lands and utilize excess space on the Campbell Elementary School grounds which border on the present Rincon Park site.

Prior to reaching its decision to recommend one central community recreation park, the sub-committee closely reviewed the recommendations of a professional park study group as well as those in the "Guide for Planning Recreation Parks in California".

The guide is published by the State Division of Recreation. The results of a citizens survey under the direction of Campbell's own Parks and Recreation Commission were studied. All these were considered in view of the Campbell City Council's own three-part policy on parks. The proposal to enlarge and develop the Rincon Park site fills the major recommendations and/or requirements of all groups mentioned.

The site will be the most economical to develop and still provide approximately 30 acres of open space recreation (including all adjacent school grounds). The park site itself will be composed of:

7.5 acres city owned land.
5.0 acres privately owned land
3.7 acres county owned land
6.1 acres excess school land for a total of 22.3 acres of developed park.

The experiences of many of our neighboring communities in more attractive place to live, the residents of these areas can be induced to become part of the city and the dynamic growth of the six year capital improvement plan.

For one reason or other, the residents of these "county lands" have preferred to remain outside the city.

While no one can quarrel with their right to express their prefer-

FINANCE

A 40-cent per $100 assessed valuation tax increase in the property tax rate will allow for Campbell to finance a $3.2 million bond issue for capital improvements, according to the recommendation made by the finance sub-committee of the Citizens Advisory Committee.

The finance committee is headed by Dale Scott, a resident of Campbell and who also is executive director of the Santa Clara County Taxpayers Association.

The finance committee, which will submit its report on Thursday to the 64-member Citizens Advisory Committee, also suggests that by amortizing the bonds over a 25-year period a considerable saving in interest will result.

The committee, after studying the city's capital improvement program and the city's fiscal position, also feels that the bonds should be sold in stages over a six-year period as the various phases of the overall capital program are developed.

planning and building parks and recreation centers were also examined.

The sub-committee feels that Campbell can benefit immensely by examining our neighbors' successes and failures prior to finalizing our community park plan.

As a minimum, the park should include picnic and barbecue facilities, kiddies playground including wading pool, baseball and softball fields, tennis courts and a large youth and community activity center.

the system. Routine changes in personnel, they pointed out, will in no way affect either the quality of education or the schools.

In answer to a general question, District Superintendent Neal Royer said that there were no resignations pending in his office from any of the teachers in the school.

Most of the parents present at the board meeting vehemently maintained that the situation should be looked into. Others present, however, questioned the methods used to have letters written to the board and to get a large attendance at the meeting.

R. D. Lemmerman, one of the leading spokesmen, for the parents, maintained that the parents would be satisfied, if the board would only investigate and "prove that everything was harmonious which we don't think it is." When the board makes the results of the investigation public at the June 8 meeting, those present last Thursday indicated they would be on hand again.

NEW YORK—The average loss per stolen motor vehicle in the United States is $1,030, according to the Insurance Information Institute. Automobile thefts during 1965 cost the nation's drivers more than $500 million.

NORMAN PAUL
PUBLIC FACILITIES
By NORMAN PAUL
Chairman

At its meeting May 25, the public facilities committee heard final reports and recommendations of the four sub-committees: civic center police sub-committee; fire sub-committee; library sub-committee, and related buildings sub-committee.

Following a thorough discussion of each of the following it was unanimously agreed that:

First Priority be given to Fire Station #2. Estimated cost: $221,000.

Second Priority be given to Police and Administration Building. Estimated cost for each is: police administration building—$540,000; land acquisition—$100,000; corporation yard—$140,000. Total estimated cost—$780,000.

Third Priority be given to Fire Station #3. Estimated cost: $134,000.

Fourth Priority to be given to construction of a community center building. Estimated cost; community center building—$300,000; land acquisition—$50,000; total estimated cost—$350,000.

Fifth Priority to be given to Fire Station Headquarters Relocation. Estimated cost: $261,000.

Sixth Priority to be given to construction of a Chamber of Commerce Office—approximately 1,000 sq. ft.—in the Civic Center Complex. Estimated cost: $25,000.

The total estimated cost for the above projects is: $1,771,000.00.

Because the nature of financing library projects recommended in the library sub-committee report differs from these projects listed above, the committee voted unanimously not to place library projects on a priority list.

Further, the committee voted unanimously that the following library projects be placed on the next ballot designed for City of Campbell capital improvement projects:

1. Library #1—Approximately 6,000 sq. ft., Bascom and Campbell Avenues. Estimated cost: $160,000.00.

2. - Library #2 - Approximately 6,000 sq. ft., San Tomas Expressway and Campbell Avenues. Estimated cost: $160,000.00.

The total recommended expenditure for public facilities—those items given a priority listing plus the two library facilities is: $2,092,200.00.

In conclusion the chairman wishes to express a personal feeling that the Committee believes it unfortunate that all of the projects given them for study cannot be given "first priority" because there is complete accord that all are most vital to bring our city to the stature it so greatly deserves—the image of a dynamic commercial, residential, cultural and industrial community—the natural hub of West Valley life.

NEW YORK—Deaths in home accidents in the United States dropped about 2 per cent, from 28,500 in 1964 to 28,000 in 1965, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

out that it will take two-thirds majority of the committee members to accept the "package" that will comprise the recommendation to the City Council.

PARKS

In arriving at the figure of $883,000 for the proposed park program, Henry Cary, 113 N. Second St., chairman of that sub-committee, explained that it was recommended that one central community recreation park be developed and that the present seven-acre city-owned but undeveloped Rincon Park be expanded into approximately a 30-acre site, which would include all adjacent school grounds. According to the report, as a minimum the expanded park should include picnic and barbecue facilities, kiddies playground, including a wading pool, baseball and softball fields, tennis courts and a large youth and community activity center.

The committee also indicated that it felt that no Campbell funds should be expended to develop the Los Gatos Creek area because much of the land is now under control of other governmental agencies and may be developed by them.

CIVIC CENTER

The sub-committee on public facilities, headed by Norman Paul, 44 W. El Caminito, has listed six projects in order of priority in its report, totalling $1,771,000.

First priority was given fire station #2, estimated at $221,000. Next is a police-administration building ($540,000); corporation yard ($140,000); and acquisition ($100,000) for a total of $780,000.

Third priority: Fire station #3, for west end of Campbell, $134,000; Fourth: Community center building and land acquisition, $350,000.

Fifth: Relocating present fire station headquarters, $261,000. Sixth: Related public services in civic center (i.e. Chamber of Commerce, etc.) $25,000. If library facilities are considered through city-county action, two libraries, each costing $160,000, were suggested.

STREETS
In the sub-committee report on streets, headed by Ralph Weymouth, 243 W. Rincon, a total of $1,615,000 was recommended, including: minor streets (two-thirds) $800,000; major streets $500,000; up-dating and installing new traffic signals, $220,000; Rincon Ave. pedestrian over-crossing (city's share, $25,000; and on and off ramps for San Tomas Expressway at Rincon, $70,000.

New assessment proceedings to affect property owners in state

Hundreds of thousands of California property owners are receiving increased assessment notices in May and June as assessors strive to equalize values for this year's tax roll.

Some counties issued these notices prior to the 1966 assessment reform law, but this announcement is now "a must" for all counties—either by card or newspaper notice.

The notices are part of the taxpayer's new rights and responsibilities, explained George R. Reilly of San Francisco, whose agency administers property taxes.

The notices enable the property owner to compare his property value and assist in deciding whether to appeal the assessment later.

The property owner will be supplied with more information on which to base his assessment appeal, a longer time in which to file the appeal, and a better opportunity to be heard, according to Reilly, a member of the State Board of Equalization. The taxpayer now has the right to inspect records and other information used by the assessor to value the taxpayer's property.

INFORMATION

Other new information will consist of: 1. The assessor's announced percentage of market value used for property in his county; 2. A notice, usually in May or June, if the assessor raises the assessed value of a taxpayer's real property (land, buildings). 3. The average assessment level of property in each county as announced by the State Board of Equalization tentatively in July and finally in August of each year.

APPEAL
The application of this information in an appeal—the notice and the Board's assessment level announcement—faces technical amendment in the current Legislature.

Reilly cautioned, however, that the assessor can bring new evidence of your property's full value into the assessment appeals hearing, and that the local board of equalization can raise an assessment as well as lower it.

He suggested a rule of thumb: Look at the assessment notice again (or your tax bill). See what the assessor's full value is. If it is below what you think you can sell your property for, think twice before you appeal the assessment.

A taxpayer is now responsible for filling out his own personal property statement (equipment, machinery and other movable assets).

County boards of equalization, or assessment appeals boards appointed by them, are now required to stay in session until all appeals are heard.

Appeals will not begin before the third Monday in July.

REFORM LAW

The reform law also provides that applications for assessment reduction will be accepted between the third Monday in July and September 15. This appeals procedure is not for tax bills. It is established only to appeal the assessment of an owner's property—the basis for the taxes, Reilly reminded.

The new rights and responsibilities for taxpayers are only two of the far-reaching changes enacted by the Legislature in overhauling local assessment practices.

Responsibility for new rules and regulations for assessment practices, as well as checks on assessors' offices, was given to the State Board, which historically has been responsible for uniformity in assessment levels among the counties.

From now until 1971, each assessor will announce annually the percentage of market value at which he is assessing all property. The percentage must be between 20-25% of the full value. From 1971 on, all assessors must use 25% of market value.
